(Order before April 1, 2005, and save 10%!)

The book features:

- An extensive overview and analysis of the PERM rule by Steven Clark
- Angelo Paparelli on policy choices driving PERM.
- Ron Klasko on how PERM requires a reevaluation of strategies for obtaining permanent resident status, especially EB-1 and EB-2 green cards.
- Laura Danielson on whether and when to convert old labor cert cases to PERM cases.
- Cyrus Mehta and Elizabeth Reichard on how to deal with "experience gained on the job" issues and foreign language requirements under PERM.
- Bill Reich and Jill Apa on how PERM affects small employers.
- Ed Litwin on how to advise employers regarding document retention issues for PERM purposes.
- Julie Pearl on electronic storage of documents required under PERM.
- Steve Trow on which PERM cases are likely to be targeted for audit and strategies for avoiding audits.
- Numerous useful appendixes, including the PERM rule, the Standard Occupational Classification, and key contact information for PERM offices.

All the authors are prominent immigration attorneys and members of the Academy of Business Immigration Lawyers.

The book is edited by Stephen Yale-Loehr, co-author of the IMMIGRATION LAW AND PROCEDURE treatise.
